Location & surrounding area:

Nuevo Arenal is a city but also a district situated in the province of Guanacaste, in Costa Rica. It is situated in the north-east part of the Lake Arenal. The town was created in 1973 after the inundation in the village situated in this place, just before Nuevo Arenal.

In the south-east of the city you can visit the famous Arenal Botanical Gardens. There are many Italian and German tourists visiting every year this place. This region offers unique views no matter where your eyes will rest. You can have a rest in the small and nice park near the lake.
